ROOM P-27

James Buchanan teaches Theory of Knowledge to second semester juniors and first semester seniors. He also coordinates the IB program's extended essay. He has taught for 18 years--mostly Latin, but also some history, mythology--even freshman writing at Saint Leo University. He received his MFA from the University of Tampa, his BA from the University of Michigan and a teaching certificate from Western Michigan University. In his free time, he's had nearly 20 stories and essays published in prominent literature magazines and anthologies and was nominated for several awards along the way.

“I have always enjoyed teaching the IB students. I enjoy the engagement and, almost more than anything, their curiosity and questions.. ”
