ROOM P-29

I co-founded the boy's lacrosse team in 2010, and I have taught at Robinson since 2015. Prior to entering academia, I was a reporter for the Tampa Bay Times and later the managing editor at Rain Publishing Group's South Tampa Magazine and Tampa Magazine. I am a graduate of the Zimmerman School of Advertising & Mass Communications at the University of South Florida.

"I changed my entire career to become a teacher, and it is the best life decision I've made (right up there with marrying my best friend in 2011). The students are the best part of the IB program; not only do they seek knowledge and diverse perspectives, but they also want to be challenged and prepared for the next level. The culture of the IB program is tight-knit, and the students put an incredible amount of energy and effort into being the lifeblood of spirit on campus. ."
